

Realm Communication

Keep engagement front and center.

Realm gives you all the communication tools you need to reach your congregants right where they are.

Problem to Solve:	Realm Communication Solution:
Church staff need to be able to reach congregants in multiple ways to keep them informed.	Realm allows you to send emails quickly and easily, but also gives you the ability to reach your congregation directly on their mobile devices through the Connect app using Newsfeed posts, chat, in-app notifications, and even texting.
Group leaders need to communicate with their group members outside of their meeting times.	With Realm, your group leaders can post discussions, share files, post photos, and post events to their group.
Group members want to stay in touch throughout the week.	The group Newsfeed allows members to share prayer requests, motivational quotes, pictures and more so your members can engage and worship together outside of their group meetings.
Congregants want to communicate with each other outside the walls of the church.	Realm's directory gives your congregants access to their church family. They can see other members and chat with them directly in Realm.
Congregants want control over who sees their information and how they are contacted.	Realm allows each individual to choose what information they want available to only staff, staff and group leaders, or the entire church. Plus, they can choose their own notification settings so they receive information the way that fits them best - email, in-app notifications, text, or all!

Key Features for Congregants:

- View and contact others through the directory
- Chat with others directly in Realm
- Share posts with their groups
- Comment on posts from others in their groups
- Choose their own notification preferences
