

Administration

Provide all the tools your administration needs to empower your ministry.

Your ministry can't function without your administration. That's why ACS Technologies (ACST) provides them with all the tools, training, and support they need to be successful.

Problems to Solve:	ACST Administration:
Administration needs access to a complete solution to effectively manage their ministry.	Your staff and administration are the backbones of your ministry. To help continue in their role, ACST offers robust, complete management solutions for every size of ministry and any denomination. From contributions, processes, and record management to overseeing groups or events, your administration will have everything they need to support the needs of your ministry.
Administration and other staff need tools to better understand how to use their solutions effectively.	Learning how administrators can effectively manage all the tools needed to support your ministry can take time. That's why ACST is committed to bringing you the most thorough learning management solution designed specifically for ministry. Staff and administrators can learn new solutions on their own time, each with their own learning paths and proactive strategies.
Administration needs detailed role-based security, so every staff member only has access to the tools they need.	Your staff and administration all work towards the goal of growing your ministry, but that doesn't mean they need access to the same information. All of ACST's solutions are designed to fit the needs of specific roles in your ministry. Each role is customizable; you can tailor exactly what and when they need to access information depending on how they support your ministry.

How ACST Serves Administration:

- Staff and administration gain access to an entire suite of ministry management solutions including contributions, accounting and payroll, groups, events, communications, membership and process management, and so much more
- Access learning management tools 24/7, each with their own specific paths and designed for the roles in your ministry
- With nearly 100 people on our support team, ACST provides industry-leading support for your staff and administrators so they can be most effective as possible
- Ministry consultants are ready to help empower your ministry through onsite or virtual training and tools for best practices
- Each of ACST's solutions offer role-based security so you can tailor your staff's experience and only give them the tools they need for success
