Missions and Outreach

Be a guiding light to those in your ministry and community.

Better knowing your community or region means having the right data to make informed decisions. ACS Technologies (ACST) provides ministries with tools to identify community needs, maximize fundraising potential, and communicate your message with the world.

Problems to Solve:	ACST Missions and Outreach:
Ministries need tools to learn more about how they can better assist their community.	Your missions and outreach ministries focus on building relationships with members of your community. But to do that, you'll need access to community information and insights. MissionInsite, a solution of ACST, is built for ministries who want to identify community needs, maximize outreach capabilities, track demographic trends, and more. Backed by data sources like the U.S. Census, MissionInsite helps all sizes of churches, parishes, and denominational and diocesan offices connect with their community.
Ministries need ways to create and manage mission trips, fundraising, and more.	Mission trips, fundraising, and other activities are a fundamental part of expanding your ministry. ACST has solutions specifically designed to support your ministry needs through eGiving solutions, pledge tracking, and monitor mission trip fundraising progress.
Ministries strive to reach the unchurched and nonbelievers in their community, and the world.	Your ministry wants to bring more people to His word, but you'll need proper tools to make the right impact. ACST has spent more than 40 years delivering solutions for ministries to reach outside their four walls. From custom websites and external events calendars to remote streaming services and mass communication tools, your ministry will have what it needs to to spread your message to anyone, anywhere.

How ACST Serves Serves Missions and Outreach:

- Better understand those in your community with demographic and socio-economic data backed by Epsilon, Experian, and the US Census

- Understand the religious beliefs and preferences of your neighborhoods so you can better serve them

- Track and monitor all giving, pledges, and fundraising activities to better plan for mission trips

- Gain access to custom websites, event calendars, and remote streaming solutions to better spread your message
